What happens after we receive your complaint

➤ Acknowledging your complaint

It's important to us that we resolve the issue for you as quickly as possible. We will write to you to acknowledge your complaint in a timely manner from the receipt of your complaint.

➤ Investigating your complaint

One of our team members will investigate your complaint. They will assess the details of your complaint thoroughly, fairly and impartially in order to reach a decision. To help with their investigations, they may need to contact you to request any additional information to reach a decision.

➤ Keeping you updated

Our aim is to reach a conclusion within 4 weeks of the receipt of your complaint, but this can depend on the complexity of your case. If we have not resolved your complaint by this time we will ensure you are kept updated on our progress

➤ Informing you of our decision

We'll always contact you to discuss our final response. We'll explain what we've found, what we plan to do as a result and why we made the decision. This may be over the phone, by email or by post.

In the event that your complaint has not been resolved within 8 weeks from the date of receipt, we will either provide you a further update on the progress of our investigation, explaining why we are not yet in a position to provide you with our final response.

We hope our final response resolves things for you. But if you're not happy with it or if it's taken over eight weeks to sort things out, we will inform you if you have the option to refer your complaint to the Financial Ombudsman Service and provide you with details on how to use the service they provide.

If your complaint does not have Financial Ombudsman rights, we will inform you of your next steps in the response letter.
